

Abstract of the disclosure: What is new is, the ability to manufacture retaining wall product in a position 90° to what is being currently done. Which allows the units to be made with more precision and have a distinct design or imprint on the face.